A TASTE OF SINGAPORE NANYANG-STYLE SEAFOOD CUISINE

For close to 50 years, Red House Seafood has delighted diners with its exquisite Singapore Nanyang-style seafood; a style that is grounded in the southern regions of China, and woven through with influences from the Malay, Indian, and Peranakan traditions among others.

Key cherished ideals such as honesty, provenance and cooking from the heart have served the brand well over the years and continue to do so as the team takes no shortcuts in serving up food that is thoughtfully prepared at a reasonable value.

Red House Seafood currently operates three restaurants in Grand Copthorne, The Esplanade and Clarke Quay.

OUR VENUES

In line with Red House's cooking philosophy, the design of the restaurants takes reference from the rich and layered Nanyang culture. It is modern, contemporary and culturally diverse, while remaining Chinese at its core. The use of materials evocative of Nanyang-style decor such as rattan, timbre, patterned tiles and terrazzo-inspired surfaces accentuate the spaces to create a warm and welcoming environment for convivial get-togethers.
